Technical Specifications of the Materials we use:

We use raw materials & components of best quality to ensure our Gloves are best in quality, fitting & life. Our leather & material inspectors check all materials/leather before production to ensure the committed quality & to avoid any risk of complaints & to ensure speedy delivery.

Most leather today is taken from Goat Sheep and Cow because of their size, availability, and exceptional quality of leather.

Aniline/Aniline Leather:

The softest most luxurious leather available anywhere today. Full aniline is 100% natural hide without any coating and has a gorgeous look and beautiful feel to it. It is a perfect leather for those who want the ultimate in looks and comfort.

Goatskin Drum Dyed Leather:

Goatskin is more durable than cowhide. It is softer and more supple because of the lanolin in the leather. This lightweight hide is flexible.

Goat Suede:

Refined Buffed Pure Analined Dyed.

Serino Synthetic PU:

Serino Synthetic leather for Riding Gloves, which is both wear-resistant and elastic and offers equestrians an excellent grip on the reins and the tactility they need. This material is available in different designs & colours.

Amara / Clarino:

CLARINO is one of the world's most popular synthetic leathers. It has same tensile strength as genuine leather. However, CLARINO is three times stronger than real leather, requiring only a third of real leather's weight to achieve equal tear strength. Clarino is Comfortable and Breathable. Always Soft, Even in Cold and Wet Weather. CLARINO can be washed either by hand or with a machine. Light rain has no effect and will not leave water spots. Excellent versatility, CLARINO comes in dozens of colors.

4-Way Spandex:

Specially developed nylon fabric with features of four sides stretch to create the mobility of hands in gloves. Give an extra soft feel when applies on gloves.

Lycra:

Lycra is a synthetic fiber known for its exceptional elasticity. Soft from fitting, stretch with your own directions, used for ventilation and comfort features.

Air-Mesh:

Air-Mesh fabrics are designed to move moisture away from the body and enhance fabric drying, keeping you feeling cool and dry.
